

I can give Dr. Ken Grey the highest grades as a master of acupuncture. As an initial “nonbeliever”, I suffered for months despite massage, heat and cold packs, dips in Jacuzzis and manipulation from a fall that stretched the muscles in my right side. The daily pain level was so intense that I could not adequately play golf or enjoy hours in the field working my hunting dogs.

Due to Dr. Grey’s sessions I am without pain! I have full use of the muscles on my right side. The area where the significant pain emanated is painless. I am able to swing a golf club and walk in the fields assisting in training two young German pointers.

The days of pain killers, Advil and Celebrex are behind me.

I am confident that Dr. Grey can assist anyone in pain if the patient is willing to take a series of painless procedures.

Acupuncture is an ancient form of medicine and Dr. Grey’s knowledge of the human body, its muscle system and its nervous system combine to make his treatments a very important restorative method that should not be overlooked by any one suffering from pain.

Dr. Grey is not only a superb practitioner but a gentleman. I consider him not only my doctor, but also a friend.

I recommend Dr. Grey to anyone who is in pain, as acupuncture may solve problems that drugs will not solve.

Nathaniel Reed

Nathaniel Reed short bio: He started his career in the family real estate and hotel business in Florida from which his concern for the environment steered him in public life. He has served six Florida governors and two presidents in many positions, including terms as chairman of the Florida Department of Air and Water Pollution Control, and Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Department of the Interior for Fish, Wildlife and Parks. Beyond his government service, he helped found 1000 Friends of Florida and has served as both president and chairman of the board of the organization. He currently or has served on the boards of the Atlantic Salmon Federation, Natural Resources Defense Council, National Geographic Society, Yellowstone National Park, Everglades Foundation and Hope Rural School.